Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Saturday 05 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Mostly cloudy overnight with some rain. Thundery showers developing Sunday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Cloud and occasional rain in the west and north extending to many other parts, except the east of England, overnight. Becoming mostly dry and cool with some clear spells across Northern Ireland and Scotland later.

Sunday:
Cloudy for much of England and Wales with patchy rain followed by afternoon showers, some heavy and thundery. Mostly dry with sunny spells across Northern Ireland and other western parts.

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Sunshine and some heavy showers Monday. Mostly fine and dry Tuesday. Increasing cloud and outbreaks of rain in the north and west Wednesday, dry and bright in the southeast.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.